“Learning Swerve”

LISTENER GUIDELINES

1.Under NO CIRCUMSTANCES should you attempt to READ and LISTEN to UHS offerings simultaneously. Doing so puts you at elevated risk of suffering catastrophic neurological and/or psychological damage (and/or insight*). The DUI assumes no responsibility for any neuro-cognitive "anomalies", related property damage and/or criminal charges, space-time singularities, inter-dimensional breaches or spontaneous wormhole emissions the may or may not result from ignoring this common sense WARNING. You have been warned, do not cross the streams.*

2.Learning Swerve" is designed to be listened to in stereo on bass friendly speakers or headphones in the comfort and safety of your own home. The first time this album is played, it should be listened to in it's entirety with a minimum of distractions, including your idiot smart phone. It's running time is roughly 70 minutes, please plan your first listening session accordingly. Attempting to operate motorized vehicles, heavy machinery, skate or snow boards or bikes is NOT recommended during the first time you LISTEN to this album. For best listener results, we strongly advise moderate but repeated THC ingestion in conjunction with this album for experienced THC enthusiasts.

3."Learning Swerve" represents the director's first attempt to seriously interface with your primitive Earth music technology outside of a live performance context. The director had zero production experience and minimal recording experience prior to the production of this album. This album was not recorded or mastered in a professional recording studio due to budget constraints and should be considered to be a full length "demo".

Shit is RAW, son. Enjoy at your own risk.
